Marion High School

Dec. 12, 1940

QUILL DAY TOMORROW

Twenty years from now where will you be? Here in Marion? Probably not. Only a small proportion of the alumni of Marion High School have remained in Marion permanently following their graduation. And even if you are one of the few who make this community their home throughout the years, many of your classmates and school friends, and almost all of your high school instructors will depart in a few years--to greener (?) pastures. Soon the intimacies of today will be dissolved, and then, when your pals of the present are no longer across the isle or down the block, your QUILL will hold crystallized the good times and the "fond memories" that now, in the rush of events, mean so much more than we have time to realize. Pictures of the seniors, underclass groups, athletic teams, snapshots of all and sundry; the season's record in football, basketball, track; the Calendar, to record

Dance

The Quill staff this year has gone to extraordinary pains to present to you, the students of Marion High, a book about you that will be worthy of your praises and gratitude.

To better acquaint the student body with our product and to provide a pleasant day of entertainment, we are going to present the assembly Friday, and afterwards sponsor a "tea dance." This is our Christmas dance for this year, and we regret that we could not hold this swing session after supper, but, because of a full calendar of previous engagements, if there is to be a Christmas dance it will be a "tea dance."

Come, play socialite! Have you often wondered what it would be like to attend tea dances the way Deanna Durbin, Walter Winchell and other prominent leaders of society do? Come and find out! Everyone who has paid his 50¢ deposit on the Quill will be admitted free. The price for the others is 10¢. Let's get registered for our Quills early; a 50¢ deposit assures you of a Quill. This price, we feel, is extraordinarily low for the only book on the face of the earth that is printed about M. H. S. Where else can you find a similar book--even should you be willing to pay $50.00? We are lucky to have such a publication written about us.
