

V O X

Vox Dance Friday at Memorial Hall

Friday night Memorial Hall will be around with the scintillating rhythm provided by G. Ward and his high-school G-men, the hoots and hollers of a hundred happy high school kids, the moans, groans (and we hope something better) provided by the entertainers, the shuffling of two hundred feet, and the popping of a hundred non-bottles (5¢ each, extra). Then the townspeople will know that the second VOX sponsored dance will be in progress.

Will you be there?

Remember! Friday night, April 24, at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. High school students (not necessarily IHS students) only, please. Tickets: 15¢ to be purchased from any member of the VOX staff. Refreshments extra. Additional numbers will be provided for the entertainment of the patronage at intermission.

CONTEST CLOSURE FRIDAY !!!

The VOX contributions contest, which is open to any student of Marion High, will close Friday at four p.m. All entries must be in the hands of a member of the VOX staff or an English instructor of our high school by that time to be eligible for competition for the Waterbrook Inter-changeable point fountain pen offered as a prize.

Entries will be judged by the English instructors of IHS and as soon as the judging is complete the award will be made.

Longer, poem, editorials and previously published chapters of Little Nell's Revenge will be accepted. Must be less than 100 words long.

Under the direction of Professor Milo P. Porterfield, a large group of students attended the science day held at Ames last Saturday.

Clark, Schaefer, Thomas, Benedict, Travis, Wells, Swift, Hobbs, Fleischer, H. Swift, H. Biddick, L. Leitch, J. Milner, B. Price, H. Helbig, J. Lanning, E. Brooks attended.

J. Eugene Wells placed fourth in the chemistry division. Melvin Clark placed fifth in the physics division. June Milner placed sixth in algebra and Billy Thomas placed seventh in animal identification.

Over 1000 students attended the meeting.

WIN IN TRACK MEET AT CEDAR FALLS . .

The two mile relay squad, Hanson, McKean, Hagerman, and Sheets, placed first in that event at Cedar Falls last Friday.

Dale Lane, in the home-hopping event, placed third, after making the best time in the preliminaries.

Coach Wolfe also entered Gus Edwards in the javelin throw and Leo King in the discus.

Work is progressing on the jumping pits at the new athletic field, with many of our track stars getting the season's best work-out on a wheel-barrow.

Last session next week!

SUBJECT:

WEDNESDAY: Gosh I'll sure be glad when next Monday comes to hear Betty Anne's answer to the three offered dates. I sure hope she includes me in the evening somewhere 'cause that V&A dance is sure to be a good red hot dance.

THURSDAY: I asked Betty Anne for a date for a Spoon Walk around town in the evening. She accepted and we sure did have a nice walk. We couldn't do much spooning walking but we got by the evening all right without my treasury being robbed again.

FRIDAY: The end of the six weeks. Only one more six weeks left. We can all look forward to flag day next Wednesday. I hear V. Clark quit school so he wouldn't get any more flags. Too bad but life is hard. Only a few more days till Betty Anne's answer. Those days seem like months -- but time does fly so I will soon know.

ORIGINAL POETRY

THE DEBTOR

The debtor he leads a remarkable life because he's always in monetary strife
 He always owes money
 but for this he's no cure
 If all the collectors collect on his stair.

However the debtor is rarely as poor as the collectors who camp on his door
 He always can borrow but never can pay
 But maybe he will on the judgement day.

CHALLENGE YOURSELF

Have you ever stopped to think of the hundreds and hundreds of students in colleges, universities, and high schools, and even junior highs that think they are cheating the teachers and in turn are cheating them selves.

Students much too often, think that they can do y their classroom work in class, business, recreation, or some other study and get by with it. They do, to a certain extent, but not all to a her. The instructor probably doesn't notice it at the time, but he wonders why a student who is so good in his daily work should get such a low grade in his final exams.

These students too late, regret the fact that doing a little work themselves is a whole lot easier than taking a subject over.

In such studies as shorthand, if a student misses one day's assignment, it puts him about a week behind.

A student says to himself, "Gosh! What's the difference if I copy Bob's Latin? The teacher won't know it." Of course not. The teacher doesn't know it until examination time, and maybe not then, if the instructor isn't overly smart.

I'm sure that if ever student who copied his chum's work realized the true hurt, that had been done, if he a bit of common sense, he would reform from this bad habit.

BOY! LISTEN!

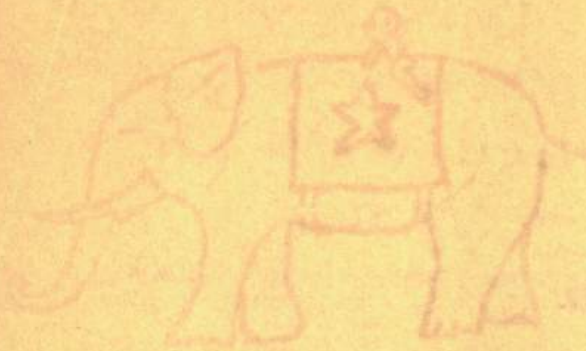

A large group of students under the direction of Sam Jackson investigated a disturbing rumor as to the whereabouts of several Marion High students last Saturday night.

Malvin Clark, not ours, is a member of the faculty of the science departments at Ames. That's no bull. That's no lie either.

Somebody said that Raymond Kinney had something to do with that awful smell in the lab last Friday. Did he?

Dr. Porterfield had some bad news from a friend of his down home. It seems that the fellow had a new pair of socks but he took off his shoes and went to sleep the other day and dogged on if the neighbors kids didn't snatch 'em right off his feet.

PEST! LITTLE!!

Casper, it is said, didn't come out even on the silverware, but he managed to eat his icecream.

It is also said that Billy Thomas, Wayne Wells, Casper, and the illustrious Mr. Porterfield were getting their money's worth when they were caught snipping sugar cubes.

And who thought they were amateur firemen when they were sliding the brass pole? It must have been Wayne Wells and Melvin Clark.

Attention everyone: Mahlon Fleisher is a psycho-analyst and an expert in hypnotism.

And why was it that Hobbs suddenly decided to go to Ames. Ask him, we're tired of guessing.

DEAR MARK AND GLEO.

How about a little help? I have become infatuated with a rather nice young maiden. Now as I am a slow studious boy I would like to know how to keep up with her. Could you please help me out of my difficulty.

Thank you
 A little bit Slow

Dear Slow,

Sure we can help you. Now as you are a studious and slow student in all reliability your manners and record are good. Therefore, you should have no difficulty in obtaining a date. Get a few hot dates and I am sure that your speed will increase enough to make a good impression.

Respectfully,

MARK AND GLEO
